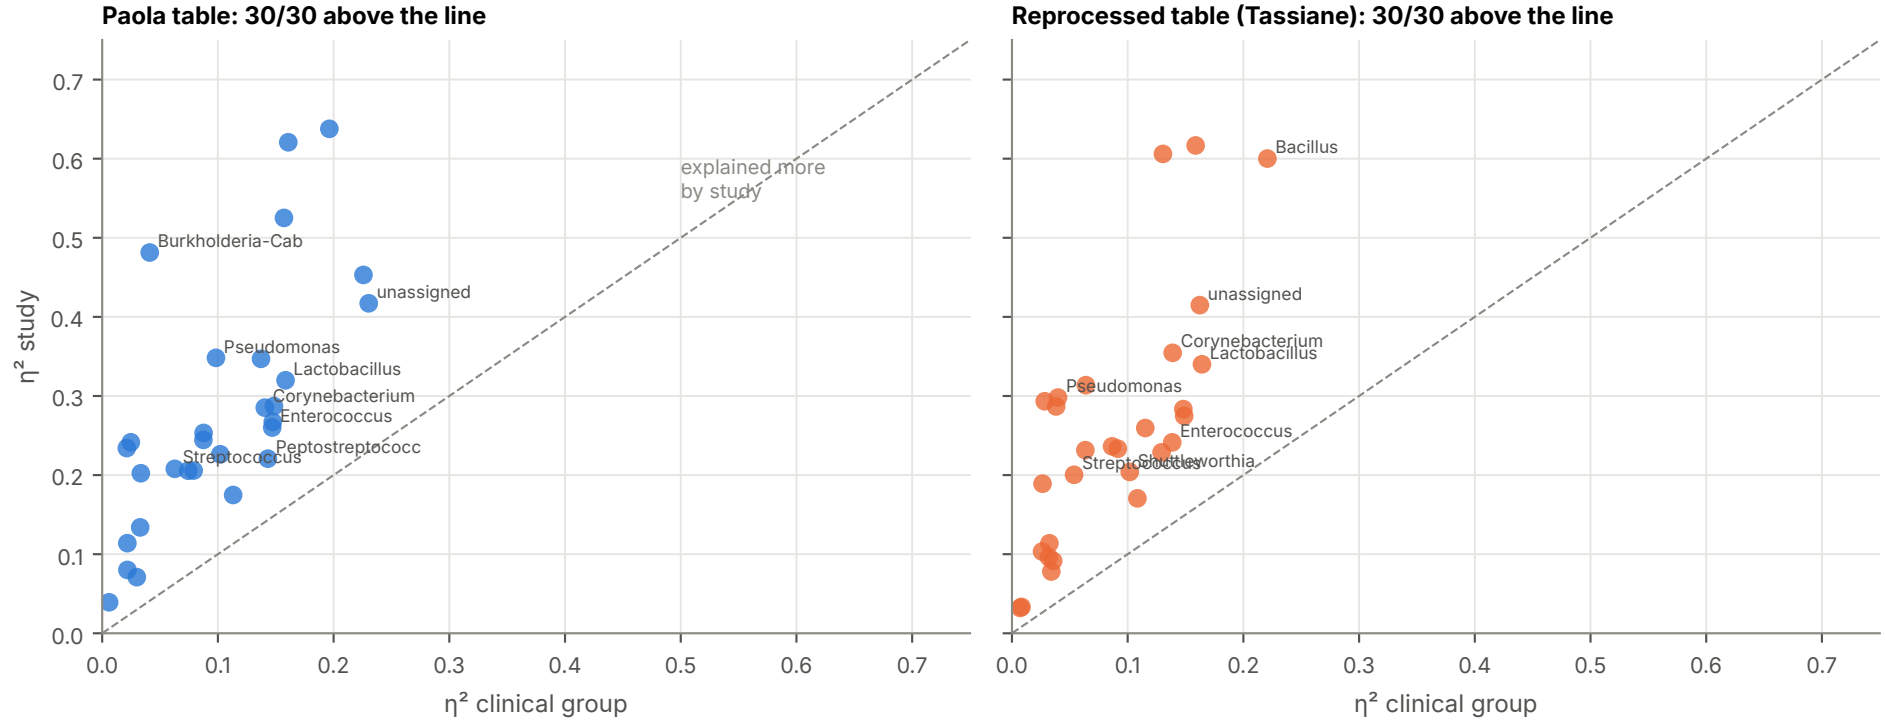
The 30 most important SHAP genera vary more between studies than between groups



Rank-based η² of each genus' relative abundance. Above the dashed line = more variation between studies.